

City of Clarkston Hosts 8th Annual Trunk or Treat Celebration on Market Street

The 8th Annual Trunk or Treat Festival in Clarkston was a truly special night for our community, with families and children filling Downtown Market Street with laughter and excitement. It was heartwarming to see kids of all ages enjoying the festivities, whether they were darting between game trucks, getting their faces painted, or posing with friends and family in the photo booth.

The stilt walker captivated attendees, young and old, towering above the crowd and bringing an extra touch of magic and wonder to the evening. Creative trunks decorated with fall scarecrows, pumpkin patches, and carnival themes brought the spirit of the season to life. Top prizes were awarded to the most outstanding trunks and costumes, showcasing the fun and imagination that went into each design.

We owe a huge thank you to our city staff, volunteers, and community partners, whose hard work made the evening unforgettable. Seeing so many families come together in celebration reminds us of what makes Clarkston such a vibrant community. We're already looking forward to next year's Trunk or Treat for more family fun!

Empowering Survivors and Building Community Awareness

In honor of Domestic Violence Awareness Month and Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the City of Clarkston dedicated October to amplifying awareness and standing in solidarity with survivors. The month kicked off with the annual tradition of lighting city buildings in pink and purple.

Throughout the month, city leaders and staff came together in a shared mission to educate, empower, and support those impacted by these critical issues. Through a series of meaningful events, Clarkston reaffirmed its commitment to fostering a safe and compassionate community for all.

City leaders and staff showed their support by gathering for group photos in shades of pink and purple. By wearing these colors, we demonstrated unity and raised awareness for Breast Cancer and Domestic Violence Awareness Month. These group photos captured the dedication of our team to advocate for survivors and encouraged community-wide engagement.

Domestic Violence Awareness Training

On Thursday, October 17, Clarkston observed Purple Thursday with Domestic Violence Awareness training for all city employees, as mandated by the City Council and outlined in a city proclamation. Facilitated by our staff social worker, Candice Almond, the session provided critical education on recognizing warning signs, understanding available resources, and supporting survivors.

This training reinforced Clarkston's commitment to protecting survivors and equipping our team with the tools needed to support those in need, underscoring the importance of empathy and awareness in addressing domestic and gender-based violence.

Survivor Summit at Clarkston Community Center

The inaugural Survivor Summit took place on Saturday, October 19, at the Clarkston Community Center. Co-hosted by Mayor Beverly H. Burks, a breast cancer survivor, and Vice Mayor Debra Johnson, an advocate for domestic violence survivors, the event brought together community leaders, survivors, and advocates. Attendees shared powerful stories of resilience, raised awareness about both breast cancer and domestic violence, and connected with valuable support resources. This first summit provided an essential platform for education and community healing, marking a meaningful new tradition in the City of Clarkston.

“This summit is a reminder that we are never alone in our battles,” said Mayor Burks. “As a breast cancer survivor myself, I know the importance of early detection, self-care, and the unwavering support of our community. Together, we can uplift one another and make a difference.”

Burks as the featured guest speaker, leading an open and insightful discussion on early detection, available support resources, and her own journey as a breast cancer survivor. ## A Compassionate Voice: Vice Mayor Debra Johnson's Message on Domestic Violence Awareness

Domestic violence awareness is deeply personal to me because, in 2019, I lost my only sister to domestic violence by her boyfriend of 10 years. I was there—present, active, and forever impacted by the trauma of witnessing her suffering. Through this experience, I realized how difficult it can be for those trapped in abusive relationships to recognize the signs of abuse or communicate what they're going through. Many remain silent, emotionally torn between the pain and their love for the person causing that pain. This is why raising awareness is so critical—to give a voice to those who feel voiceless, to help them recognize the danger they are in, and to let them know they are not alone.

This acronym emphasizes my commitment to being a reliable, compassionate resource for anyone in need.

A – Available: I am here for you, ready to listen and offer support when you need it most.

W – Willing: I am willing to stand by your side, no matter how difficult the journey.

A – Active: I will take an active role in helping you find the resources and support you need.

R – Respectful: I will respect your experiences and emotions, offering empathy without judgment.

E – Empathetic: I will approach your situation with care and understanding, knowing how complex it can be.

N – Nonjudgmental: I will offer a safe space where you won't be judged for your circumstances or decisions.

E – Encouraging: I will encourage you to take steps that are best for your safety and well-being.

S – Supportive: I will provide the support you need, whether it's emotional, informational, or practical help.

S – Safe: I will be a safe presence, someone you can trust to have your back as you navigate through this.

If you or someone you know needs help, contact the National Domestic Violence Hotline at 1-800-799-7233 (SAFE) or visit thehotline.org for confidential support.

With the holiday season approaching, the Clarkston Police Department wishes you a safe and joyful time! Here are some key tips to help protect you, your family, and your belongings during the festivities.

On the Road:

- Avoid driving alone at night. Park in well-lit areas and as close as you can to your destination.
- Lock doors, close windows, set alarms, and keep valuables out of sight to deter theft.
- Have your keys ready when approaching your vehicle, and keep a firm hold on bags.

While Shopping:

- If shopping at night, go with a friend, avoid carrying large amounts of cash, and keep wallets and keys in front pockets.
- Be mindful of your surroundings, especially in crowded areas, and be wary of strangers approaching you.
- Avoid carrying too many packages to maintain visibility and mobility.

Out with Children:

- Teach kids to stay close and alert you if anyone approaches them.
- Don't leave children alone in vehicles or send them unaccompanied to restrooms.
- Make sure children know your contact information in case you get separated.

At Home:

- To avoid attracting attention, keep holiday gifts out of sight from windows. When decorating, be sure to keep doors and passageways clear for safety.
- Check for ID when receiving unexpected deliveries.
- If approached for donations, contribute only to recognized charities.
- To avoid package theft this season, use secure delivery options like lock boxes or hold packages at a post office. Enable delivery alerts and ask a neighbor to pick up items if you're not home.
